

February 24-25 Session

AMA Alumni Board to Meet at Virginia Beach

Augusta Military Academy's future will be discussed when the AMA Alumni Association Board of Directors meets Saturday, February 25 at the Seahawk Motel in Virginia Beach.

Association President Gary Nicholson, '70, said that the Board was invited to meet in Virginia Beach "by a number of dedicated Tidewater AMA alumni who have been meeting regularly to keep Augusta's flame aglow." Jim Bob Lane, '49, is making arrangements for the meeting.

All Augusta Alumni are Invited

In addition to the 2 PM board meeting on Saturday, all AMA alumni are invited to a reception and dinner Saturday night at the motel. The reception and dinner cost is $17 per person. A special AMA room rate is available at the Seahawk both Friday and Saturday nights, February 24-25 - $33 per night for a double room with an ocean view. Alumni should contact the Seahawk Motel direct at 1/800/333-6921 toll free, or at 804/428-1296 to make both dinner and/or room reservations. Major credit cards will be accepted, or alumni may send personal checks to secure both dinner or room reservations.

"We probably will know by the end of February if the sale of AMA to the group from Florida has gone through," said Nicholson. "The Bankruptcy Court in Harrisonburg has promised action on the Culbertson bankruptcy filing which has prevented Crestar Bank from closing the deal with the potential purchasers from Florida." (See story below)

A hospitality suite will be open both Friday and Saturday nights, February 24-25 at the Seahawk which is located at 26th and Atlantic Avenues, Virginia Beach, VA 23458.

AMA Property Sold, or is it?

A Tampa-based religious organization bid $345,000 for the buildings and most of the grounds at AMA in a trustee's sale, but the property owner filed a bankruptcy petition which has put the sale in doubt. Great Ministries International (GMI), which calls itself "multi-denominational", plans to use the facilities as a homeless shelter or senior rehab center.

Just before the auction on September 28, Doyle Culbertson had a deed prepared conveying the Augusta property to the AMA Corporation. The deed, signed by Culbertson's father who had owned the property for a decade, was recorded at the Augusta County Clerk's office the morning before the trustee's auction.

Bankruptcy Petition Filed Same Day

That same afternoon, AMA Corporation filed a Chapter 11 petition in the Federal Bankruptcy Court in

Class Notes ----- 3
Annual AMA Reunion - 7

Augusta Military Academy
Alumni Association, Inc.

January 1995

Dear Fellow Alumnus:

Happy New Year to everyone of you! 1995 will be filled with news about AMA, its buildings, and its grounds. As I said previously, our hopes for reopening Augusta as a school likely are gone, but we will continue to follow the legal and financial developments closely.

More than ever, it seems to me that the principal purpose of your Alumni Association is to keep us in touch with each other. We are putting a new emphasis on our Class Notes section here in The Bayonet. We will be urging you to attend the 1995 Reunion May 5-7 at the Holiday Inn in Staunton. And we are hoping that many of you can attend our next Alumni Association Board meeting at the Seahawk Motel in Virginia Beach February 25-26. Details of these two events are found elsewhere in this issue.

For the Association to remain effective, we need to hear from you. Send us information about yourself for the next issue of The Bayonet. Make plans to attend the Reunion and/or the Virginia Beach Board meeting. And give us your advice and counsel on how to serve all the "Men of Augusta" better.

Now, a personal note. I want to give loving thanks to my Susan. Before our last Board meeting in Williamsburg, she was up at 4 AM making sandwiches and goodies for the guys. We all appreciated that, Susan. Especially me!
