Mickey Gordon's generous and gracious gift

The late Mickey Gordon, '39, has left some $140,000 for AMA scholarships. Story on page 23.

FIRE MISSION - On a foggy January day, a 105 mm howitzer was towed into place in The Triangle directly in front of the Alumni House. The weapon was brought from the Aberdeen Proving Grounds in Maryland. Story starts on page 24.

Reunion 2003: all the details

Bring the kids! That's the theme of Reunion 2003. We urge our alumni to bring their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren so they can learn what Augusta was all about. The AMA Legacy will be passed along to our offspring who never ate in the Mess Hall or marched in the snow in the traditional Sunday Parade. This issue is full of information you'll need: the blue registration form in the center lets you select the activities in which you'll participate; a list of hotels gives suggestions on where to stay; there's information about golf, tennis, the sporting clay shoot, the silent auction and more. Read on! And we'll see you the first three days of May in Staunton and Fort Defiance!

Winter 2003

Dear Fellow Alumnus:

Happy 2003! The May reunion is going to be terrific! Our theme is "Looking forward..." and that means you should bring your children and your grandchildren and, yes, your great-grandchildren so they'll have the opportunity of tasting the AMA experience. They'll learn more about our AMA Foundation and can start getting involved so that AMA's legacy will live on after we are gone. Besides the usual events, we'll have athletic activities for "kids of all ages," a chance to try their skills at lacrosse, soccer, fencing or basketball. It will be a lot of fun for everyone. (story on page 17)

In this issue of The Bayonet you'll find articles about the many projects our volunteers are running, like our new howitzer. Yes, it's in place! (story on pages 24-25) Work on the Front Gate is coming along as the weather permits, and it will be restored in time for the reunion. There is a new display of First Captains and Battalion Commanders. The 1927 baseball uniform which was pictured in the last issue is awesome! We have a saber from the nearby Civil War Battle of McDowell now mounted on the museum wall. (picture on page 26) And we still need volunteers to carry all these projects through to fruition.

We were blessed to have Mickey Gordon, '39, as an alumnus and he left us a sizeable gift in his will. (story on page 23) His gift was targeted at our AMA Legacy and VMI Scholarship programs and will help provide help to the descendants of AMA alumni for many years to come. As generous as was Mickey's final gift to us, we still need monies to print The Bayonet, pay the utilities at the AMA Alumni House/Museum, buy supplies, pay rent, and pay salary. So, please – remember AMA and help us financially in any way that you can from the five dollar a week commitment I have asked all board members to make to that big gift which will enable us to get on sound financial footing once and for all.

By the way, if you haven't yet signed up for the September trip to the World War II battlefields of Europe, the time is now. You'll find details and a registration form in the center of The Bayonet. For every person who signs up, the AMA Alumni Association will receive $250! It's open to anyone; not just alumni. Sign up and sign up your friends.

We are fortunate to have the accounting service of Jeff Schroeder, '68, and the financial savvy of John Hash, '75. They are working hard to manage our money in a responsible way and to create budgets for both our Foundation and the Association. (story on page 35) Our two-year plan is to accumulate enough capital so that the interest will pay for scholarships, The Bayonet, and museum expenses without invading the principal. We'll need your support!

Finally, with the anticipated increase in attendance for the May 1-2-3 2003 reunion, you would be wise to get your reservations made. Be sure to book your rooms soon at a reunion hotel (see page 18) and reserve a spot for the Friday tour! See you in Fort Defiance in May!
